

Supply of Museums Victoria Archives Material for Research or Study

Conditions of Supply

Museums Victoria does not claim to be the copyright owner of all material supplied. Permission to reproduce material should be sought from all relevant copyright owners before publication.

If material requested is about First Peoples and/or First Peoples cultural artefacts, consultation with the First Peoples Department at Museums Victoria is required.

Citation of Text

When referencing text sourced from archival material, ensure that the Record Number, organisation/person who created the records, description, date, and Museums Victoria Archives are included in your citation when publishing information sourced from the Archives.

Cultural Sensitivity Message

First Peoples of Australia should be aware that the Museums Victoria Archives contains images, voices, or names of deceased persons. For some First Peoples communities, seeing images or hearing recordings of persons who have passed, may cause sadness or distress and, in some cases, offense.

Language

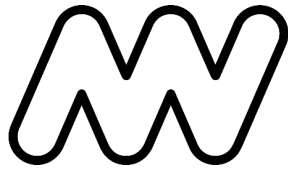

Certain records contain language or include depictions that are insensitive, disrespectful, offensive, or racist. This material reflects the creator's attitude or that of the period in which the item was written, recorded, collected, or catalogued.

They are not the current views of Museums Victoria, do not reflect current understanding and are not appropriate today.

Feedback

Whilst every effort is made to ensure the most accurate information is presented, some content may contain errors. The level of documentation for collection items can and does vary, dependent on when or how the item was collected. We encourage and welcome contact from First Peoples Communities, scholars, and others to provide advice to correct and enhance information.

Material provided to Mike Taylor by Nik McGrath, Archivist, on 13 May 2026.
